FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Tammy Wilber, Ms. Wheelchair Washington, joins VARILITE

March 1, 2007, Seattle, WA — VARILITE, which manufactures and sells postural support products for people who use wheelchairs for mobility, announces Tammy Wilber as its Marketing Manager, effective March 5.

Wilber, Ms. Wheelchair Washington 2006, will have responsibility for planning and executing VARILITE marketing programs. Prior to joining VARILITE, Wilber was Executive Director of Think First Seattle, an organization dedicated to educating individuals, community leaders and creators of public policy of the importance of preventing brain and spinal cord injuries. Most recently, Wilber worked as a Patient Service Representative in the Outpatient Rehabilitation Department at the University of Washington Medical Center, where she was a role model for patients with recent spinal cord injuries.

"We are delighted that Tammy will be leading VARILITE marketing," said Randall Willett, VP of Medical for Cascade Designs. "She has been an active advocate in the disability community through her work speaking to students about the importance of making 'good choices' so they don't get hurt. As a wheelchair user, Tammy brings valuable knowledge and experience that will have an immediate impact on our marketing and product development programs."

"I am thrilled to become part of the VARILITE team as the Marketing Manager," added Wilber. "As a wheelchair user for the past 13 years, I look forward to using my personal experience to provide quality products to the wheelchair community."

Wilber will be attending International Seating Symposium in Orlando, Florida March 8-10. She can be reached through VARILITE's toll free number, 800.827.4548.
